Hi.

Hope you are doing well

Again sorry for the time delay yesterday. For the doors in empty units being locked due to security reasons making sure no one gets in to steal.

As you said you can't wait for the time to unlock the secured doors

We offered to resume inspection today. But you didn't appear today

We assume you prefer to resection this inspection for another day.

Please let me know when you are available for an another day to complete the inspection. And will take into consideration the times for opening the doors

And getting them unlocked

Much appreciated

Best Leo

I have your list. And been working on getting all doors open and ready.
